"There's nothing half so sweet in life as love's young dream."

It was meant to be so when woman was ordained man's helpmeet. But it was never meant that love's dream should have so sad an awakening. It is due chiefly to ignorance that young women are so rudely awakened from the dream of love. They enter on the married state without physical or mental preparation. They are entirely unaware of the great physiological change suggested by the one word "marriage."

Every young woman should be prepared for that change. There should be no neglect of irregularities. The perfect health of the peculiarly womanly organs should be the daily care. Thousands of women who entered in marriage unprepared, and passed from irregularities to debilitating drains, inflammation, ulceration and female weakness, have been altogether and absolutely cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This great medicine is not a cure-all, but a specific for the chronic diseases peculiar to women. It does one thing perfectly; it makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"For two years I had been a sufferer from chronic diseases and female weakness," writes Mrs. Allen A. Roberts, 1125 Rodman Street, Philadelphia, Pa. "I had tried two doctors, who only relieved me for a time. My niece advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I did, and have been highly benefited. I am now a strong woman, and can recommend Dr. Pierce's medicine to all similarly afflicted."

SENATOR BEVERIDGE
Sat on the Key-Board in the Office of Secretary Root.

A story about young Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, is being told at the war department.

On Secretary Root's desk is an ebony slab, in which are a score of white push-buttons. These buttons summon about everybody from Lieutenant Miles to the porters and messengers.

The story goes that Beveridge called on Root to boost some Hoosier for an army commission. The young senator likes to talk, and he tilted himself back in his chair and, began to extol the virtues of his client. Finally he draped his lean, long, lank leg artistically over the edge of Root's desk.

The secretary had just "flagged" Beveridge by saying: "I shall be pleased to name your man, senator," when four or five doors opened and in poured a crowd of men and one or two girl stenographers. They arranged themselves in imposing array.

In the front row were Lieutenant General Miles, Adjutant E. A. Corbin, Judge Advocate General Liebler, Quartermaster General Ludington, Commissary General Weston, Surgeon General Sternberg, Paymaster General Bates, Chief of Engineers Wilson, Chief of Ordnance Buffington.

Back of this glittering line was a Roman mob of messengers, clerks, porters, fifteen assistant secretaries and others. All were breathing somewhat apologetically.

With a look of "Can this be mutiny?" but half suspecting a loving cup presentation, Secretary Root said cautiously: "Gentlemen, to what am I indebted for this honor?"

"You rang for me, sir," replied Miles, and the chorus boomed, "Me too."

"My bell rang as though there was the devil to pay," ventured "Jack" eston. A belated clerk came in at this juncture, leaving the door slightly ajar, and the merry jingle of electric bells floated in from a dozen rooms.

A broad smile spread over Root's face as he turned to Beveridge and gently said: "Senator, will you kindly get off the key-board?"—Cleveland Press.

PROGRESS
Is Being Made by the Solicitors for the Public Library Fund.

The Library board which is canvassing the city to secure funds for the maintenance of a new public library is meeting with great success. New donors are adding their names every day to the list and the receipts are naturally constantly growing.

Not more than one-half of the business and professional men of the city have been approached, but all will be called upon in time.

Two orders were sent in for books this week and another list is being prepared. Within the space of ten days over $500 worth of literature will be in possession of the Public Library.

Marietta's New Bridge.

This will be a very important factor to the people of Marietta—we all agree to that. And so will the new Ohio dam—agreed again. But both of these together are not one half as important to you personally as your eyesight—once more we agree, and what good excuse can you give yourself for neglecting your eyes?

H. P. Lorbach, Scientific Optician, at the Norwood Hotel, Rooms 15 and 17, until Saturday, March 23rd only, will examine your eyes in the most scientific manner, free of charge—consultation at the same price; after which you are under no obligation to place an order for glasses. What excuse can you give for not taking advantage of this generous offer?

Mr. Lorbach has been with us for five weeks, and his work is spoken of in the very highest terms by hundreds of people who have been to see him.

Office hours: 9:00 to 11:30 a. m., 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. To make appointments use either phone.

MR. J. B. SEEVERS, CARPENTER SAYS THAT THE DOCTOR IS ALL RIGHT.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I add my testimonial to the hundreds of others as to the skill and ability of Dr. H. P. Lorbach, Scientific Optician, at the Norwood Hotel. I have been troubled a great deal with my eyes, have tried a number of Opticians and Oculists, but all without success. I called on Dr. Lorbach. He gave my eyes a most thorough examination and told me what the symptoms were, as well, if not better, than I could myself. This convinced me that he knew his business, and so it proved, as the glasses furnished by him are giving entire satisfaction. I can recommend the doctor to any one needing his professional services.

J. B. SEEVERS, 519 Smith street. HEADACHE ENTIRELY CURED.

Mr. C. B. Kimberly, Grocery Merchant at No. 603 Putnam street, says: That he has been a wood turner by trade for a number of years. That he has been afflicted with SEVERE HEADACHES, so much so that it almost made him unfit for business either at the lathe or in his grocery. In fact some times keeping him away from the factory for a week at a time.

I was recommended to go to Dr. Lorbach, Scientific Optician, at the Norwood Hotel, by a relative from Huntington, W. Va., who has known the Doctor and his works in that city for some time.

I went to Dr. Lorbach, he examined my eyes in the most scientific manner, prescribed for me a pair of glasses, which have entirely cured my headaches and also improved my vision very much. If I could not get another pair like them no money could buy them. I can cheerfully and conscientiously recommend the Doctor to any one having headaches or eye trouble as thoroughly competent in his profession and honest in his statements.
